Artwork by Raphael Powery

Raphael Powery

b.1995

Raphael Powery was born in the Cayman Islands with a rich cultural history from his Caymanian and Filipino background. Growing up in West Bay and eventually briefly living in the Philippines after Hurricane Ivan, he had the opportunity to explore both sides of his heritage and enrich himself in their histories. After returning, he would continue his studies at Cayman Prep, where he would take art into his A-Levels with a special love for watercolour. Over time, he eventually lost his way with art - until finding his wife and son in the American Midwest who reignited his passion. Raphael's artistic goal is to share the Caymanian spirit, culture and history with others through art and fully realise his skills in watercolour, acrylic and oil painting. Since returning to painting in 2020, he has exhibited at the National Gallery of the Cayman Islands Art Under Lockdown (2020) and Interior and Interiority (2020).
